Daniel is an advocate and counselor devoted to helping clients navigate the intricacies of the legal system. His practice spans all phases of litigation, utilizing calculated, but creative, strategies to achieve successful resolution.

Daniel Yosef is an associate in Severson & Werson's Orange County office, where he practices in the firm's Construction, Insurance, and Financial Services practice groups.

He earned his J.D. from Loyola Law School, Los Angeles in 2018, where he graduated with honors in Loyola's Data Privacy & Cybersecurity concentration. During law school, he served as Chief Articles Editor for the Loyola of Los Angeles Entertainment Law Review.

He was also involved in Loyola's Young Lawyers Program, a mock trial program which serves as a bridge between the law school and youth from high schools in low-income communities, exposing young people to the benefits of obtaining an advanced degree and the thrills of trial practice.

Daniel earned his B.A. from the University of California, Berkeley in 2018.
